TO THE PUBLIC.

In the interest of the public health I desire to call the attention of the people to certain matters relating to the health laws of the State, and to certain necessities that confront the public in the matter of controlling the present epidemic of Scarlet Fever.

The law provides that every case of infectious disease shall be reported to the health authorities within twenty-four hours, whether attended by a physician or not. Householders are required to report cases under penalty of arrest and fine, in cases where no physician is in attendance.

In this epidemic of Scarlet Fever, as is common in all epidemics, there are many very mild cases, in which the characteristics of the disease are not apparent to the unskilled observer, and it is these cases that offer special opportunity for spread of the contagion. In order that none of these mild cases shall be overlooked it is desirable that every case of sore throat should be viewed with suspicion, and if such cases are reported to the undersigned they will be investigated without charge.

If the public will co-operate with the Health Office, and will report cases of exposure, and all cases that are in any way suspicious, the work of limiting the spread of the disease will be very much facilitated.
